How Can a World Class Children's Hospital Make Grownups Feel Better

Is a world class children's hospital important to the business community?
If quality of life issues are important to attracting the best and brightest employees, then Children's Hospital of Orange County (CHOC) is a big part of the business picture. Add to that the CHOC hospital system's status as a major employer, research center and cutting-edge health care provider and you have a community asset few other regions can claim. Kim Cripe, CEO of Children's Hospital of Orange County will discuss the new and exciting innovations on the horizon at CHOC including medical advances, new state of the art facilities and children and adolescent programs that incorporate the patient, family and friends in the healing process.
